About Our Company

About ACEC Missouri

The American Council of Engineering Companies of Missouri (ACEC/MO) is an organization of professional engineering firms in private practice. ACEC/MO is a founding member organization of the American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC) headquartered in Washington, D.C.

The objectives of the organization as expressed in its Strategic Plan are: Business Affairs, Public Affairs, Governmental Affairs, and Organizational Affairs.

Associate Members in Missouri benefit from active participation in ACEC/MO through committee activities that focus on business issues important to the conduct of their businesses both in the state and at the national level.

Committee Participation

ACEC/MO Member and Associate Member volunteers are the backbone of the organization, and committee work is one of the most important benefits to our members. ACEC/MO offers its members a wide variety of committees tailored to the special interests of its members. This participation will dramatically increase the return on your dues investment in ACEC/MO. You have the opportunity to get involved by participating in a committee. The most active committees are Business Practices, Diversity, Environmental, Engineering Excellence, Future Leaders, Governmental Affairs, Programs & Seminars, and Transportation. Participation in these committees helps broaden the knowledge base of members with respect to their peers and the firms they represent, and often leads to lasting friendships.

Meetings & Seminars

ACEC/MO holds quarterly meetings which are held in Columbia, Jefferson City, Kansas City, Osage Beach and St. Louis alternately during the year to provide easy access for the majority of members. The meetings provide forums for sharing ideas and experiences between experienced managers and often lead to partnering on projects in the state. The Council also provides business-related seminars for members throughout the year.

Associate Members have the option to sponsor these meetings & seminars throughout the year. We also have exhibit space available at our meetings in February and June for Associate Members. There are also speaking opportunities available throughout the year at the meetings for Associate Members.

Publications

ACEC/MO maintains contact with members through various publications sent routinely. ACEC/MO publishes a “Newsletter” that goes out to members, and an annual state directory of all member firms and associate members. ACEC/MO also sends out a weekly legislative report to all members.

ACEC/MO's website (www.acecmo.org) provides members with an even more effective service. We provide timely information on upcoming meetings and seminars, legislative updates, and other industry news. The website also contains an ACEC/MO Associate Member roster.

Summary of Benefits

The following is a partial summary of the benefits available to each Associate Member in ACEC/MO:

- Provides a forum for sharing experiences and exchanging ideas.
- Offers opportunities for business contacts, partnering and marketing.
- Allows participation in a group improving business conditions.
- Offers business practice advice, training programs, seminars, and provides a central information source.
