

THE VALUE OF YOUR ACEC MISSOURI MEMBERSHIP

Advocacy That Protects Your Business - Accross All Disciplines

- ACEC Missouri is your voice in Jefferson City and beyond. We advocate for all engineering disciplines — civil, structural, environmental, mechanical, electrical, geotechnical, transportation, and beyond — ensuring your firm's interests are represented in every conversation that impacts the profession.
- Beyond securing funding, we're laser-focused on implementation. ACEC Missouri engages daily with agencies and decision-makers to identify and remove barriers that prevent our members' projects from running smoothly. Your membership gives you access to the team that fights for project funding and streamlined processes that allow your firm to deliver excellence efficiently.
- From infrastructure investment and environmental policy to energy, water resources, and building design, our legislative and regulatory efforts protect your ability to operate, grow, and serve Missouri's communities. When you're a member, your expertise helps shape Missouri's future.

Professional Growth and Leadership Development

- Through programs like the Future Leaders Academy and FLAME (Future Leaders Alumni Engagement) network, ACEC Missouri cultivates the next generation of engineering leaders. Members gain access to exclusive professional development, networking, and mentoring that strengthen both individual and firm success.

Connections That Count

- Our meetings, conferences, and special events — from legislative receptions to regional networking mixers — create meaningful relationships with peers, clients, and policymakers. In our recent membership survey, 92% of members said our meetings and networking opportunities are our greatest strength.

Insight and Industry Intelligence

- Stay informed with updates on policy, business trends, and technical innovations that affect your firm. Members also enjoy access to ACEC National resources, benchmarking data, and business management tools that drive firm profitability and resilience.

Collective Strength and Shared Purpose

- With 96% of our members saying ACEC Missouri is succeeding as the leading voice of the engineering profession in Missouri, your membership supports an organization that amplifies your impact, protects your interests, and celebrates your contributions to the profession and to the communities you serve.
