Kayden K. Guymon

Director of Regulatory Affairs & Policy Counsel

Missouri Farm Bureau

BIOGRAPHY

Kayden Guymon is the Director of Regulatory Affairs and Policy Counsel for Missouri Farm Bureau. In his role, Kayden serves as the primary liaison on regulatory matters impacting Missouri agriculture. Kayden collaborates with farmers, stakeholders, policy makers and MOFB members to represent MOFB members in a variety of issues affecting rural Missourians such as: private property rights, local, state and federal government regulations and administrative determinations. Prior to his role with MOFB, he worked as an attorney for the Law Firm of Haden & Colbert where he specialized in agricultural law, providing legal counsel to farmers, ranchers and agri-businesses. Kayden grew up on a family farm in west central Illinois where his family raises row crops and cattle and manages a wean-to-finish hog operation. Kayden and his wife, Katie, and their daughter Audrey, reside in Hartsburg, Missouri.
